

Exam #1 Study Guide

Passages:

"Consider that we shall be as a City Upon a Hill, the eyes of all people are upon us." - John Winthrop, "A Model of Christian Charity", established new colony as exemplar of Christian
Unity & obedience, later used to justify American exceptionalism

"God Almighty in His most holy and wise providence hath so disposed of the condition of mankind as in all times some must be rich, some poor, some high and eminent in power and dignity, others mean and in subjection."

↑ John Winthrop, "A Model of Christian Charity", argues that different social classes are ordained by God & necessary for societal function
"When we were come, Oh the number of pagans (now merciless enemies) that there came about me, that I may say as David, "I had fainted, unless I had believed, etc." (Psalm 27.13). The next day was the Sabbath. I then remembered how careless I had been of God's holy time; how many Sabbaths I had lost and misspent, and how evilly I had walked in God's sight"

↑ Mary Rowlandson, "The Captivity and Restoration of Mrs. Mary Rowlandson", excerpt from early American best seller which warned against deism
"Let a crown be placed thereon, by which the world may know, that so far as and promotes demonization of Native Americans we approve of monarchy, that in America the law is king."

↑ Thomas Paine, "Common Sense", establishes idea that laws are applicable to all men including those in power
"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

↑ Thomas Jefferson, "Declaration of Independence", cements Lockean Natural Rights as a central American value
"History furnishes no example of a free republic, anything like the extent of the United States."

↑ Brutus, "Brutus No. 1", Anti-Federalist paper arguing large societies would lead to tyranny of the majority, led to Federalist 10 being written
"Extend the sphere, and you take in a greater variety of parties and interests; you make it less probable that a majority of the whole will have a common motive to invade the rights of other citizens."

↑ James Madison, "Federalist No. 10", flipped Brutus 1 and argued large societies allow diverse viewpoints & prevent formation of majority factions
"Here individuals of all nations are melted into a new race of men, whose labors and posterity will one day cause great changes in the world."

↑ Hector St. John de Crèvecoeur, "Letters from an American Farmer", claims best aspects of Europe blend to create the American "new man" (American Exceptionalism)
"When an individual or a party is wronged in the United States, to whom can he apply for redress? If to public opinion, public opinion constitutes the majority." ↑ Alexis de Tocqueville, "Democracy in America", opposite argument to Fed. 10 stating increased diversity & population leads to the creation of majorities/tyranny of the majority

"Is the needle and the kitchen sufficient to employ the operations of a soul thus organized? I should conceive not."

↑ Judith Sargent Murray, "On the Equality of the Sexes", argues that women are entitled to proper education/intellectual freedom
"The mother forms the character of the future man...the wife sways the heart, whose energies may turn for good or for evil the destinies of a nation."

↑ Catherine Beecher, "A Treatise on Domestic Economy", promoted the idea of Republican Motherhood
"The history of mankind is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations on the part of man toward women, having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over her."

↑ Elizabeth Cady Stanton, "Declaration of Sentiments", result of Seneca Falls Convention initiating women's suffrage movement